

Hormones Cause Changes In The Male

FSH travels through the bloodstream and targets the testicles. FSH stimulates the testicles which causes the testicles to produce sperm. With sperm production the male hormone testosterone is produced which causes the changes in the male.

This diagram is not to scale. It is meant to connect, by pictures, those organs which work together to cause hormonal changes in the male.